SOURCE

1. Numerous Soviet troop trains were seen day and night passing through JUETERBOG (N 52/E 69) towards FALKENBERG (N 52/E 74) between 31 August and 7 September 1949. These trains were to go to Hungary and Rumania via Czechoslovakia, as was rumored among the population.
2. The following detailed observations were made:

29 August 1949:

a. Train carrying troops, trucks and guns, moving through JUETERBOG towards FALKENBERG.

b. Fifty-three-boxcar train carrying troops wearing ruby-colored epaulets proceeding towards FALKENBERG.

30 August 1949:

Fifty-boxcar train with troops, moving towards FALKENBERG.

1 September 1949:

Train of flatcars carrying 11 tanks, 12 sealed boxcars and 4 boxcars occupied by troops, proceeding in the direction of FALKENBERG. Seven sealed boxcars of the train were uncoupled in JUETERBOG and shunted to the military railroad station.

2 September 1949:

Train of 17 flatcars carrying as many red-painted trucks (no numbers) and of three boxcars occupied by troops, moving towards FALKENBERG.

3 September 1949:

[REDACTED] Comment: Contrary to the observation of numerous trains running on the BERLIN-JUBLISBOG railroad line in the direction of FALKENBERG-HALIS between 7 and 27 August 1949, the trains observed passing through JUBLISBOG between 29 August and 7 September 1949 proceeded towards FALKENBERG. No definite information on the assignment of the entrained troops and the destination of the troop trains has been secured. However, it is considered incredible that the trains should have been bound for Hungary and Rumania.
